Mortgage Money Available, Says President, 1st Federal S & L

"Appomattox's new homeowners and home builders in 1971 should have little trouble obtaining mortgage money if the present savings trend continues," John W. Ferguson, Jr., president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, said Wednesday. Mr. Ferguson predicted the favorable 1971 mortgage climate for Appomattox during the Association's annual meeting held at the Home Office, 925 Main St., in Lynchburg.

The past year was an excellent one, according to Mr. Ferguson. "It was First Federal's finest year since we began business in 1923," he said.' Savings increased more than 12.5% to a new high of $34,172,861, and the final quarter of the year makes us even more optimistic about 1971."

First Federal's president cautioned, however, that any dramatic downturn in mortgage interest rates may be somtime away. He noted that they usually are the last interest rates to decline, well behind long-term corporate rates.

"If you are thinking about buying a home but have decided to wait for mortgage rates to come down," Ferguson said, "our advice is to buy now. Constantly increasing building costs always seem to offset any savings you might realize as a consequence of lower interest rates.

"Even last year, the number of people to whom First Federal made loans increased to 2,339. Mortgage loans on our books now total $36,082,214."

One of the major subjects covered in Mr. Ferguson's annual report to the Directors of the Savings and Loan was the opening of a new, fully staffed branch office in South Hill, Va.

Assets increased nearly 12% in 1970 to a year-end total of $40,984,782 making First Federal the largest of Lynchburg's three savings and loan associations.

Well over eleven hundred people began saving with First Federal during the past year, bringing the total number of account holders to 12,960. These savers received interest payments in 1970 totalling $1,671,400.

"Despite our satisfaction with such an outstanding year," Ferguson concluded, "we are looking forward to even more business in the coming months. I really believe our people have learned what Appomattox area savers and borrowers are looking for in a savings and loan association."

In an organizational meeting of the First Federal Board of Directors following the annual meeting, G. Robert Boswell, the South Hill Branch Manager was made an Assistant Vice-President. During this meeting, all present officers were re-elected as were the following five Directors: J. W. Ferguson, Jr., Royston Jester III; James E. McCausland; Charles R. W. Shoew; and Robert D. Wright.

Christmas Seal Returns Lag

"Approximately $6,000 is needed to carry on the 1971-72 program of the Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association," Mrs. James C. Rea, Christmas Seal Campaign Chairman, announced today. Pointing out that seal campaign funds contributed by residents of the Central Virginia area are the Association's only financial support, she urged that everyone who has delayed in answering the Christmas Seal letter do so as soon as possible. Mrs. Rea explained, "Christmas Seal funds provide community and school education, patient services, medical and social research, and public information regarding tuberculosis, respiratory diseases, and air pollution."

"The Association needs your help now so it might help you later. There is no compulsion in giving for this cause – only satisfaction," Mrs. Rea said.
